

Suggestions for Using the Faith Moves Mountains Video

During worship

- As an invitation to prayer
- As a sermon illustration
- As part of a children's message
- As an invitation to offering, where people offer prayers as well as gifts for the work of the church
- As a charge before the benediction.

During fellowship or coffee hour

- Provide a table (or several tables) where congregants can watch the video and pick up resource information.

Ideas for using the video at home

- Watch the video with your children. Invite them to draw or write about what they've learned about the conditions and how they are changing. The next time you purchase tomatoes at Publix, say a prayer with your children as you select your tomatoes. Together with your children, deliver a manager's letter, or perhaps a drawing or personal letter from your children.
- Before praying at a meal, remember the video. Ask members of your family to share an image or phrase from the video that was compelling. Remember together how farmworkers harvest food and Publix sells food that we serve to our families. Pray for Publix.

Ideas for sharing the video

- Post the video to your facebook page, add your own prayer for Publix and share it with your friends.
- Tweet the video
- Put the video as a link at the bottom of your signature line on your email
- Link to it from your blog
- Link to it from your congregation's website
- Download the video to your handheld device so you can share it with others easily
